Remember the WAR, PEACE, and FIRE-WORKS.

BE it remember'd in the annals of poſterity, and to the eternal honour of the Britiſh nation, that in the year of our lord 1739, and in the twelfth year of the auſpicious reign of GEORGE II. a war was enter'd into with Spain, for the non payment of Ninety Thouſand Pounds, due to the South-ſea company, and to ſecure a free navigation without ſearch (or cutting peoples ears off) to the Weſt-Indies. Which declaration of war ſoon involv'd England in another againſt France, who, contrary to treaty, had open'd and fortified the harbour of Dunkirk. Be it then, I ſay, remember'd, That Great-Britain, after a vaſt profuſion of blood, and running in debt full Thirty Millions, when it had reduced the royal fleets of France and Spain to ſo wretched a condition, that they durſt not appear at ſea, and had by the brave New-Englandmen, taken the important iſle of Cape-Breton; did, by that ever memorable peace, concluded at Aix-la-Chapelle, 1749, not only generouſly reſtore Cape-Breton to the crown of France, ſend two of her prime nobility thither as hoſtages, leave Dunkirk in part ſtill fortified; but alſo expend, in a firework, a ſum little inferior to the original demand upon Spain, and concluded a moſt gracious and honourable peace with that nation; leaving the grand affair of the ſearch, and barbarities us'd towards her gallant ſailors juſt where ſhe found them. Thus ended this long, bloody, and taxing war; which was open'd with bonfires at home, carried on with potguns in the field, and ended with the loud roar of cannon in the Green Park, the 27th of April, 1749.

BOSTON, Auguſt 28.

We hear from Newport on Rhode-Iſland, that Capt. Saunders, lately arrived there from Rattan, brings advice, that a Britiſh man of war had been there with orders from home to the commander in chief of that iſland, to evacuate it forthwith; in conſequence of which, 36 braſs cannon, with all the warlike ſtores, officers and ſoldiers (66 in number) were embark'd on board the man of war for Jamaica.

Boſton, September 4. By a letter from Chebucta, dated the 23d of Auguſt paſt, we are informed, that a party of French and Indians, at or near Canſo, have lately taken a ſloop belonging to this town,—Beath maſter; and that Capt. Clapham in a ſchooner being ſent from Chebucta to Canſo to get hay, ſent his boat on ſhore with five men in it, who were no ſooner landed, than they were made priſoners by the Indians, who endeavoured to decoy the reſt of the ſchooner's people on ſhore, but where happily diſappointed. It appears by ſeveral accounts, that the French and Indians are determined to give the new ſetlers all the diſturbance in their power; and 'tis certain that Frenchmen and Engliſhmen can never be good neighbours.

It is reported, that 5 or 6 French families have drove away their cattle, burnt their houſes, and mov'd out of the province, rather than ſubmit to the Engliſh government; and 'tis thought many others will follow their examples.

Chebucta, in Nova-Scotia, Aug. 23. 15 of the chiefs of St. John's Indians were here not long ſince, and ratified the peace made at Annapolis before the French war, and are gone home in the Anſon Galley, and ſeem to be peaceable and eaſy. The Mickmucs or Cape-Sable Indians, have been here daily in great numbers, trading with us in a friendly manner, 'till 4 days paſt, at the head of this river, they inſulted a boat with ſome of our people, by rushing to them with a great body, as ſoon as the boat ſtruck the ſhore, and took 2 of the arms, and fired them off, then took the oars, and ran into the woods; but the corporal who commanded the boat, being a reſolute man, he purſued them, and wreſted both the arms and oars from them, and returned: Upon this the Indians all drew off, which we ſince underſtand they were ordered to do by their prieſt, with ſome other remote tribes, to a place of rendezvous, which we imagine is to conſult ſome means to annoy us and the ſettlers here, being inſtigated by the French inhabitants, who ſince the diſcovery of his majeſty's inſtructions to them, I believe will take all methods to prevent a Britiſh government here, they being obliged to ſwear full allegiance to his Britannick majeſty, form themſelves into a regular militia, and give all aſſiſtance in arms whenever called, or move off, without liberty to ſell, or even to do the leaſt damage to their lands or houſes, which they are to give a peremptory anſwer to in three months: They have therefore ſent diſpatches to the governors of Canada and Louiſbourg for advice, and it is generally thought many will quit, which will leave fine poſſeſſions for good loyal ſubjects.

Capt. Joſeph Gorham, in a well armed ſloop, is ordered by the governor to cruize along the ſhore as far as the Bay Vert, to diſtribute his excellency's proclamation to all the harbours inhabited, with power to ſeize all veſſels that ſhall be found carrying proviſions from this province to other colonies, eſpecially to Louiſbourg, and to make what diſcoveries he can of the deſigns of the inhabitants and Indians. It is thought he will cruize as far as Louiſbourg, there being ſeveral ſhallops from thence at Canſo cutting of hay, and it is not doubted he will ſoon give a good account of them.

There are five picket forts building on the back of the town of Hallifax, which will be gariſoned with Warburton's regiment, and col. Gorham's company, for the ſecurity of the ſettlers.—Governor Hobſon with his regiment, (in five ſhips) ſailed for England the 19th inſtant.

Boſton, Sept. 18. By a veſſel juſt arrived from Nova-Scotia, we hear, that the governor of Louiſbourg, being informed that governor Cornwallis had ſent out ſome armed veſſels to ſeize all ſloops and other veſſels that ſhould be found trading or going to trade to Cape Breton, had ſent out a fine 24 gun man of war (which was ſoon to be followed by another of the ſame rate) with orders to take, burn or deſtroy all Engliſh veſſels that ſhould be found beyond the line, except ſuch as were going to Louiſbourg to trade.

We hear likewiſe, that they had a report at Chebucta, that the Indians had killed two of Col. Gorham's men, that the Col. was gone out in queſt of them, and that an armed veſſel was ſent into the Baſon to intercept them, if they ſhould attempt to croſs the water.

On monday laſt his excellency our Governor (Shirley) embarked on board the Boſton man of war, and ſail'd for Great-Britain.

Boſton, Sept. 25. Laſt monday arrived here his majeſty's ſhip Mermaid, Capt. Montague, in about 5 weeks from Portſmouth, in which came William Bollan, Eſq; late agent for this province at the court of Great-Britain, who has brought with him (in Spaniſh dollars and copper) the greateſt part of the money granted by parliament for reimburſing the province the charge of the Cape-Breton expedition; and laſt Friday and Saturday the money was landed on the long wharff, and afterwards carried to Mr. treaſurer Foye's, where it was decently interred in a vault prepared in the cellar for its reception, but when the time of its reſurge will be, time only will diſcover; probably not ſo ſoon as ſome may imagine. Few tokens of joy were ſhewn on its landing; but on the contrary, an uncommon gloominess appeared in moſt countenances. The ſum arrived, as we are told, is about 175,000 l. ſterling, and the ſum granted by the parliament was 183,649 l. 2 s. 7 d. half penny.
